

Barbara E. Bartels, Ed.D. is the Chief Operating Office at Early Care & Education Pathways to Success (ECEPTS). ECEPTS mission is to advance the rigorous professional development and economic well-being of the Early Care and Education workforce so that all children can reap the full benefits of their early learning and care experiences. Her professional career has included extensive entrepreneurial work in both the education and business arenas. She has a passion for organizational leadership, change management, and motivational theory in the workplace. She is an advocate for better wages for educators, including the ECE workforce, and for increasing the awareness of and support for education as an essential industry deserving of priority status in workforce development initiatives. Dr. Bartels received her Bachelor's in Special Education from Illinois State University, her Master's in Business Administration (MBA) from St. Mary's College of California, and her Doctor of Education in Organizational Leadership (Ed.D.) from Brandman University/Chapman University system. She is also the co-founder of Meaning-Centered Leadership, LLC, and the co-author of the book Meaning-Centered Leadership: Skills and strategies for increased employee well-being and organizational success. In her free time, she enjoys vacationing all over the world with her two children and hiking with her two dogs.
